RAIL SERVICE IS DELAYED BY TRESTLE FIRE

Pennsylvania Expects to Resume Through Traffic Late Wednesday.

Train service over the Zanesville division of the Pennsylvania railroad was delayed from 7:30 a.m. Tuesday until late Wednesday due to a fire on the wooden trestle which supports the bridge over the Scioto River, about one mile from the Court-st station in Circleville.

The fire was discovered about 7:30 a.m. Tuesday morning by George McKinney, section foreman. He immediately notified the interlocking station and no wrecks resulted.

Section hands with the help of water from a locomotive and hose from the fire department extinguished the fire about 1:00 p.m. Tuesday. A passenger train, No. 971, going west, went across the bridge about 3:30 p.m. This was the first train to cross the bridge and since that time no trains have passed over the structure. The passenger train was allowed to cross because it was light.

Two freight trains were delayed Tuesday. One freight coming from the east was taken back to Lancaster, the other from the west was taken to Washington, C. H.

Passenger service on the line was resumed Wednesday by transferring the passengers at Whiskey Switch, near Circleville.

PLAN INVESTIGATION
It is believed by some that the smoldering fire was caused by sparks from passenger train No. 971 which went west over the bridge about 7:35 p.m. Monday night, but an investigation will be held by officials of the company.

The estimated loss from the fire is $4000, according to officials, and 36 bridge timbers, 10 by 20 by 8 feet, and 60 ties will be sent through to make repairs.

Section hands experienced difficulty in extinguishing the fire due to the fact the timbers are covered with tar as a precaution against fire.

This bridge was the scene of a fire last year and a delay on train service resulted at that time. This trestle fire is similar to one in Columbus Monday night. The motorman for the east-bound Southern Ohio Public Service interurban train noticed a tongue of flame licking at the side of one of the supports. He halted the train and turned in a fire alarm.

Firemen extinguished the blaze half way up the trestle. As a part of the structure was burning east of Bule-ave. in Mount-et and in the rear of the Gwin Milling Co., a theory that it might have been fired by sparks from a locomotive was discounted by firemen.

Traffic was tied up until an investigation was completed.

Relief Efforts Speeded to Prevent Disease Epidemics Among Homeless

(BULLETIN)
KINGSTON, N. C., Sept. 19.—Streets and lower floors of shops were flooded today from an eight inch rain during the last 24 hours.

Rivers in eastern North Carolina were reported rising and several low dams washed away. No serious property loss was reported. Most wires were down and trains were halted. It was believed the brunt of the storm had passed over Cape Hatteras.

(By United Press)

The remnant of the tropical and costs by Judge J. W. Adkins Rico Thursday was scubbing out to sea today after it had climbed up the Atlantic seaboard as far as the Virginia capes.

With the partial restoration of communication lines, the relief work was speeded today, and reports indicated that food and medicine were needed badly in Florida and Porto Rico.

Governor Horace M. Towner of Porto Rico, in a dispatch written for the United Press, said he could give no definite estimate of the number of lives lost. He did say, however, that present reports did not warrant placing the fatality list as high as 1,000.

"The first official Red Cross report was brought in on the Florida death toll, and showed that 400 persons had lost their lives, most of these in the Palm Beach and the Lake Okechobee areas. The Red Cross is sending a book, and thousands of dollars were pouring into the headquarters of relief agencies. Railroads in Florida co-operated in the work by furnishing free transportation to physicians and nurses.

15,000 Homeless

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Red Cross headquarters were advised today that the West Indies hurricane left a toll in Palm Beach-co. Florida, of 400 dead, 15,000 homeless, and property damage of $30,000,000.

This word, sent by Howard W. Selby, chairman of the county Red Cross chapter, and James H. Gilman, chapter disaster chairman, was sent at 6 a. m. It said that 9,000 persons were being fed at organized camps in the county, and that 8,000 persons were without change of clothing because the storm had swept their belongings away.

Districts Escape Fury

A. L. Schaefer, at Jacksonville, in general charge of the Red Cross work, subsequently sent headquarters a summary of hurricane damage in 22 counties indicating loss of life had not been widespread in those regions. Schaefer did not contradict the Selby-Gilman estimate for Palm Beach-co., however.

"Food and water conditions satisfactory so far," Selby's message said. "Temporary shelter is so far satisfactory. "Sanitary conditions good along coast, but becoming very serious in western half of county."

Moving Along Coast

The hurricane, which devastated portions of the West Indies and Florida, was central today between Raleigh and Cape Hatteras, N. C., moving north-eastward or possibly north-north-eastward, the weather bureau advised.

"Whole gale" warnings, indicating a wind velocity of slightly less than the hurricane itself, were posted from Cape Hatteras to Provincetown, Mass., and ordinary storm warnings north of that point to Eastport, Me.

WEST PALM BEACH, FLA., Sept. 19.—(UP)—Homer Dickson, field captain of the Red Cross, filed a report with authorities today which indicated that the death toll in Florida from the hurricane already stood at 400 with some sections of the state still isolated.

"Two nurses and myself sent two truckloads of bodies to the aviation field here," Dickson said. "There were a hundred or more bodies in the vicinity of Belle Glade according to the crews of (Turn to page 3, please.)"

Plenty Of Milk To Drink And Food To Eat Dices Wonders

Eating heartily and drinking plenty of milk have made big girls out of little ones in the family of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Littleton, 2057 N. Fourth-st., Columbus, who are former Circleville residents.

When Mary Littleton was born 12 years ago she only weighed six and three-quarters pounds. She now tips the scales at 170 pounds.

Martha was born 10 years ago and was so small and delicate that her mother was afraid she would not live. However, she has thrived and at present weighs 136 pounds.

Mary is in the sixth grade and Martha in the fifth grade at Indianapolis school.

Mr. Littleton, their father, is a brother of George and Frank Littleton, of Circleville, and their mother was formerly Miss Gladys Leist, of this city.

Mr. Wagner was riding in a Ford coupe with his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Roof, of Columbus, and another party, whose name was not ascertained. Neither of the other two parties in the car was injured.

Wagner was severely cut about the head and wrists and upon getting out of the coupe, after the accident, fell on the road and fractured his skull, relatives said.

His injuries were attended by Dr. Hooser, Ashville.

Mr. Wagner is the father of Mrs. Earl Fletcher, of W. Franklin-st., Circleville.

CONVICTS RIOTING

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 19.—(UP)—Rioting was resumed at the Maryland penitentiary today, with 263 convicts still on strike.

Relief Efforts Speeded to Prevent Disease Epidemics Among Homeless

(BULLETIN)
KINGSTON, N. C., Sept. 19.—Streets and lower floors of shops were flooded today from an eight inch rain during the last 24 hours.

Rivers in eastern North Carolina were reported rising and several low dams washed away. No serious property loss was reported. Most wires were down and trains were halted. It was believed the brunt of the storm had passed over Cape Hatteras.

(By United Press)
The remnant of the tropical and costs by Judge J. W. Adkins Rico Thursday was scubbing out to sea today after it had climbed up the Atlantic seaboard as far as the Virginia capes.

With the partial restoration of communication lines, the relief work was speeded today, and reports indicated that food and medicine were needed badly in Florida and Porto Rico.

Governor Horace M. Towner of Porto Rico, in a dispatch written for the United Press, said he could give no definite estimate of the number of lives lost. He did say, however, that present reports did not warrant placing the fatality list as high as 1,000.

"The first official Red Cross report was brought in on the Florida death toll, and showed that 400 persons had lost their lives, most of these in the Palm Beaches and the Lake Keechobee area."

The nation opened its pocket-book, and thousands of dollars were pouring into the headquarters of relief agencies. Railroads in Florida co-operated in the work by furnishing free transportation to physicians and nurses.

15,000 Homeless
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Red Cross headquarters were advised today that the West Indies hurricane left a toll in Palm Beach-co. Florida, of 400 dead, 15,000 homeless, and property damage of $30,000,000.

This word, sent by Howard W. Selby, chairman of the county Red Cross chapter, and James H. Gilman, chapter disaster chairman was sent at 6 a. m. It said that 9,000 persons were being fed at organized camps in the county, and that 8,000 persons were without change of clothing because the storm had swept their belongings away.

Districts Escape Fury
A. L. Schaefer, at Jacksonville in general charge of the Red Cross work, subsequently sent headquarters a summary of hurricane damage in 22 counties indicating loss of life had not been widespread in those regions. Schaefer did not contradict the Selby-Gilman estimate for Palm Beach-co., however.

"Food and water conditions satisfactory so far," Selby's message said. "Temporary shelter is so far satisfactory. Sanitary conditions good along coast, but becoming very serious in western half of county."

Moving Along Coast
The hurricane, which devastated portions of the West Indies and Florida, was central today between Raleigh and Cape Hatteras, N. C., moving north-eastward or possibly north-north-eastward, the weather bureau advised.

"Whole gale" warnings, indicating a wind velocity of slightly less than the hurricane itself, were posted from Cape Hatteras to Provincetown, Mass., and ordinary storm warnings north of that point to Eastport, Me.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 19.—(UP)—Homer Dickson, field captain of the Red Cross, filed a report with authorities today which indicated that the death toll in Florida from the hurricane already stood at 400 with some sections of the state still isolated.

"Two nurses and myself sent two truckloads of bodies to the aviation field here," Dickson said. "There were a hundred or more bodies in the vicinity of Belle Glade, according to the crews of (Turn to page 3, please.)"

College Football Season Opens Saturday

THIRTY-FOUR GAMES LISTED FOR WEEK-END

All Gridiron Teams Will Be In Action by October 9—East Hard at Work

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—It's almost football time again.

Flags flying from huge concrete bowls, a mass of young college huskies down below charging at each other, row on row of wildly cheering undergraduates and old grads—these sights—will be seen each Saturday within a short time.

Although two nip and tuck major league baseball races down the home stretch have the almost undivided attention of the sporting world these mid-September days, football is slowly creeping back.

Reports from eastern college football training camps indicate that several teams are rapidly approaching playing form.

34 GAMES SATURDAY
Thirty-four football games are scheduled Saturday over the United States, largely in the south, southwest and far west. The eastern season will not open until a week from Saturday. All teams will be in action by Saturday, October 9.

New York university, under the capable Chick Meehan, has come along fast. Ken Strong, the highly-gearred halfback, turned a scrimmage yesterday into a rout, scoring three touchdowns in a variety of manners.

Coach Frank Cavanaugh is almost ready to select his starting eleven for Fordham's first game with St. Bonaventure.

Arnold Horween, starting his third year with Harvard, bemoans the lack of good linemen. Harvard has a squad of looking for ends, but high class tackles, guards and centers.

Yale, Army and Pennsylvania—three teams looking forward to successful seasons—2 are searching for ends. All three teams lost their regular ends by graduation.

Scott and Ishwick of Yale, Born and Harbold of Army, Scull and Leaner of Penn, separately or in pairs, were among the best wingmen in the east last season.

Coaches Stevens, Jones and Young may find it hard to replace them.

The Navy is preparing for a big comeback. The middies lost three of their four big games last year, bowing to Notre Dame, Michigan and the Army. Whitley Lloyd and Joe Clifton are being groomed to carry the bulk of the Navy attack.

Pittsburgh, one of the east's best last year, is preparing for another big year. Coach Jock Sutherland expects Big Jim Hood, former Bellefonte Academy star, to step into Gibby Welch's shoes.

Alex Fox, star guard, is the captain of the team.

PRINCETON IS MENACE
Princeton, with practically a veteran team, including the two great backs, Wittner and Miles, will be hard to beat this season.

Dartmouth has the outstanding running back of the east in Al Marsters, who runs with a loping gait and who has an uncanny knack of picking his way down the sidelines. He has put on weight and will carry about 195 pounds this season.

Colgate is building a powerful line and may come back after a poor season in 1921.

Syracuse has a brilliant field general in Captain Harold Poy-singer.

Tufts, the only team in the country to go through the season undefeated, has lost most of its line, but Coach Sampson has a star back in Captain Ellis.

(By United Press.)
A thirty-five-goal team will represent the United States against Argentina in the first of the International polo matches Saturday. The announcement of the team was made by the defense committee of the United States Polo Association following a series of practice matches with the individual ability of each man under consideration.

Malcolm Stevenson was induced to return from retirement and with Tommy Hitchcock, the No. 2 and No. 3 positions were filled. It remained to select capable players for No. 1 and Back. It was no surprise when W. Averill Harriman was named for the No. 1 post. Harriman started his polo career at Arden in the Hudson Valley and is the organizer of the Orange County teams which have figured in several championship matches. Last year Harriman was at No. 1 position on the Sands Point team when that team won the open championship. Recently his handicap has been raised from six to seven goals.

At back, the defense committee has named J. Cheever Cowdin. Forty years old, Cowdin is a veteran of the game, having played for 16 years. He was a teammate of Harriman on the Sands Point team last season.

HITCHCOCK CAPTAIN
Hitchcock and Stevenson are two of the four polo players in the world with a ten-goal handicap rating. At 21 Hitchcock was made a member of the American team that won the championship cup from Great Britain. He played in the successful defense of that trophy in 1924 and 1927 and was on the Olympic team of 1924 that was defeated by Argentina.

With the retirement of Devereux Milburn, Hitchcock was named captain of the American team. Stevenson played against Great Britain in 1924 and was again at No. 3 position in the International matches last season.

With the approach of the United States-Argentina matches, the memories of the unexpected margin of defeat in the first match from last season is brought back. The score was 13 to 2, the decisive defeat in the history of International polo since 1886.

ARGENTINE'S HANDICAPPED
It was a demoralized British team that was held that day only to a few days later with a changed line-up and make a brilliant stand, only to lose the final match, 8 to 5.

The Argentine team has been handicapped in practice since its arrival in this country due to an epidemic of influenza among their mounts. At one time every pony except Lacey's best pony, Jupiter, had influenza and Jupiter could not be used on account of a bad cut on one of his legs.

The International matches were postponed for a third time and although the ponies were entirely recovered from the disease, only light exercises could be indulged in. The illness first appeared among the mounts in mid-August when the throats of the animals were affected, preventing their feeding. During the stage of convalescence the ponies could not be used in practice as the heavy exercise might result in pneumonia.

It was with the consent of the United States' team that the first match was scheduled for Sept. 22, when the Argentine team could present their full strength.

FEUD NEARING END
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The long feud between Tex Rickard and Jack Kearns is nearing an end.

Kearns was on his way from the Pacific coast today to confer with Rickard on a Mickey Walker-Tommy Loughran bout for the light heavyweight title in Madison Square Garden early in November. Rickard said the match had not actually been closed, but that negotiations were under way and the match probably would be announced in a few days.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 19.—Forward passing for all the backs is being stressed in Princeton football practice. Three backfields are being used with Dor Lowry, Jack Norman, Jack Requaert, Trix Bennett and Phil Strussing doing the passing.

OLD PUNCH SHOWN BY JACK IN PLAY

Dempsey Returns to Broadway as Star in Melodrama "The Big Fight."

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—For two hours and a half, "The Big Fight" which brought Jack Dempsey back to Broadway last night, was tiresome melo-drama.

For its last three minutes and a half, it was packed with thrills which brought the first night audience whooping to its feet.

All the glamor and drama and action of a heavyweight championship fight were packed into the last few minutes of the otherwise Sorry little play in which Jack and his wife, Estelle Taylor, are co-starring—their first joint effort upon the legitimate stage.

Dempsey, lithe and brown and grim, brought an appreciative yell of delight from the audience when he stripped off his familiar white sweater and flannel trousers and stepped forth in the red and black trunks he wore in his last ring battles.

And what Dempsey does to the unfortunate "Battling Baker" of the play is a caution. The management of "The Big Fight" advises that this part will be played by relays of actors. It is quite likely that they will run out of actors sooner than of cash customers, for the knockout wallop which the ex-champion shot over last night was closer to the real thing than many seen in the prize ring.

It took Dempsey about half a minute of the second round of a truly stirring battle to drape the ponderous form of Ralph Smith, who plays the part of "Battling Baker," insert across the canvas.

Chewing on an unit cigar and leaning on his gold headed cane, Tex Rickard surveyed the enthusiastic audience last night. Men in stiff white shirt bosoms and women with ermine caressing their gleaming bare shoulders were standing and whooping like mad.

"You know, young feller," said Tex, "I believe they'd pay another million to come and see that there Dempsey fight again."

College Football Season Opens Saturday

THIRTY-FOUR GAMES LISTED FOR WEEK-END

All Gridiron Teams Will Be In Action by October 9—East Hard at Work

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—It's almost football time again.

Flags flying from huge concrete bowls, a mass of young college huskies down below charging at each other, row on row of wildly cheering undergraduates and old grads—those sights—will be seen each Saturday within a short time.

Although two nip and tuck major league baseball races down the home stretch have the almost undivided attention of the sporting world these mid-September days, football is slowly creeping back.

Reports from eastern college football training camps indicate that several teams are rapidly approaching playing form.

34 GAMES SATURDAY
Thirty-four football games are scheduled Saturday over the United States, largely in the south, southwest and far west. The eastern season will not open until a week from Saturday. All teams will be in action by Saturday, October 6.

New York university, under the capable Chick Meehan, has come along fast. Ken Strong, the highly-gearred halfback, turned a scrimmage yesterday into a rout, scoring three touchdowns in a variety of manners.

Coach Frank Cavanaugh is almost ready to select his starting eleven for Fordham's first game with St. Bonaventure.

Arnold Horween, starting his third year with Harvard, bemoans the lack of good line men. Harvard has a squad of looking for ends, but high class tackles, guards and centers.

Yale, Army and Pennsylvania—three teams looking forward to successful seasons—2 are searching for ends. All three teams lost their regular ends by graduation. Scott and Ishwick of Yale, Born and Harbold of Army, Scull and Leaner of Penn, separately or in pairs, were among the best wingmen in the east last season. Coaches Stevens, Jones and Young may find it hard to replace them.

The Navy is preparing for a big comeback. The middies lost three of their four big games last

STOMACH TROUBLE AND KIDNEY PAINS ENDED BY KONJOLA

Terrible Suffering Of This Man Relieved When He Took New Medicine.

MR. JOHN M. CARLOCK.
"Konjola gave me new health in every way and I got wonderful relief from stomach trouble and kidney pains which I suffered for many years," said Mr. John M. Carlock, Box 104, Sebring, O. (near Alliance).

"Immediately after meals food would form a heavy lump in the pit of my stomach that caused intense pain and then I would have awful belching spells that made me drowsy sick. At night I was unable to sleep well because of frequent bladder action that got me out of bed, six and seven times. My condition was steadily growing worse and I didn't know what to do for relief. "It certainly is a wonderful thing that I took Konjola because this medicine strengthened all my stomach organs and made it possible for me to eat whatever I wanted without rising a single time because my kidneys are functioning as Nature intends. In every way this medicine has benefited me."

Konjola is sold in Circleville, O., at Mykranitz Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

YANKS NOW HAVE TWO GAME LEAD

Hugmen Defeat Browns While Athletics Lose To Cleveland Indians.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The New York Yankees gained a full game in the American league pennant race Tuesday by defeating the St. Louis Browns 14 to 11, while the Cleveland Indians were winning from the Philadelphia Athletics, 3 to 2. The Yankees now have a two game lead over the Athletics.

In the National league pennant race, the St. Louis Cardinals maintained their two game lead over the New York Giants by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies 4 to 2. The New York Giants won from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 2, and the Chicago Cubs defeated the Boston Braves, 8 to 3. Chicago is now three and one-half games behind the Cardinals.

The contenders:

American League
New York—Won 94, lost 49; pct. .657.

Philadelphia—won 92, lost 51; pct. .643. Two games behind.

National League
St. Louis—Won 88, lost 55; pct. .615.

New York—Won 85, lost 57; pct. .601. Two games behind.

Chicago—Won 65, lost 59; pct. .590. Three and one-half games behind.

year, bowing to Notre Dame, Michigan and the Army. Whitey Lloyd and Joe Clifton are being groomed to carry the bulk of the Navy attack.

Pittsburgh, one of the east's best last year, is preparing for another big year. Coach Jock Sutherland expects Big Jim Hood, former Bellefonte Academy star, to step into Gibby Welch's shoes. Alex Fox, star guard, is the captain of the team.

PRINCETON IS MENACE
Princeton, with practically a veteran team, including the two great backs, Wittmer and Miles, will be hard to beat this season.

Dartmouth has the outstanding running back of the east in Al Marsters, who runs with a loping gait and who has an uncanny knack of picking his way down the sidelines. He has put on weight and will carry about 193 pounds this season.

Colgate is building a powerful line and may come back after a poor season in 1927.

Syracuse has a brilliant field general in Captain Harold Poy-singer.

Tufts, the only team in the country to go through the season undefeated, has lost most of its line, but Coach Sampson has a star back in Captain Ellis.

A thirty-five-goal team will represent the United States against Argentina in the first of the International polo matches Saturday. The announcement of the team was made by the defense committee of the United States Polo Association following a series of practice matches with the individual ability of each man under consideration.

Malcolm Stevenson was induced to return from retirement and with Tommy Hitchcock, the No. 2 and No. 3 positions were filled. It remained to select capable players for No. 1 and Back. It was no surprise when W. Averill Harriman was named for the No. 1 post. Harriman started his polo career at Arden in the Hudson Valley and is the organizer of the Orange County teams which have figured in several championship matches. Last year Harriman was at No. 1 position on the Sands Point team when that team won the open championship. Recently his handicap has been raised from six to seven goals.

At back, the defense committee has named J. Cheever Cowdin. Forty years old, Cowdin is a veteran of the game, having played for 16 years. He was a teammate of Harriman on the Sands Point team last season.

HITCHCOCK CAPTAIN
Hitchcock and Stevenson are two of the four polo players in the world with a ten-goal handicap rating. At 21 Hitchcock was made a member of the American team that won the championship cup from Great Britain. He played in the successful defense of that trophy in 1924 and 1927 and was on the Olympic team of 1924 that was defeated by Argentina.

With the retirement of Devereux Milburn, Hitchcock was named captain of the American team. Stevenson played against Great Britain in 1924 and was again at No. 3 position in the International matches last season.

With the approach of the United States-Argentina matches, the memories of the unexpected margin of victory by which the American team won the first match from Great Britain last season is brought to mind. The score was 13 to 5, the decisive defeat in the history of International polo since 1886.

ARGENTINES HANDICAPPED
It was a demoralized British team that left the field that day only to return a few days later with a changed line-up and make a brilliant stand, only to lose the final match, 8 to 5.

The Argentine team has been handicapped in practice since its arrival in this country due to an epidemic of influenza among their mounts. At one time every pony except Lacey's best pony, Jupiter, had influenza and Jupiter could not be used on account of a bad cut on one of his legs.

The International matches were postponed for a third time and although the ponies were entirely recovered from the disease, only light exercises could be indulged in. The illness first appeared among the mounts in mid-August when the throats of the animals were affected, preventing their feeding. During the stage of convalescence the ponies could not be used in practice as the heavy exercise might result in pneumonia.

It was with the consent of the United States' team that the first match was scheduled for Sept. 22, when the Argentine team could present their full strength.

FEUD NEARING END
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The long feud between Tex Rickard and Jack Kearns is nearing an end.

Kearns was on his way from the Pacific coast today to confer with Rickard on a Mickey Walker-Tommy Loughran bout for the light heavyweight title in Madison Square Garden early in November. Rickard said the match had not actually been closed, but that negotiations were under way and the match probably would be announced in a few days.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 19.—Forward passing for all the backs is being stressed in Princeton football practice. Three backfields are being used with Dor Lowry, Jack Norman, Jack Requaedt, Trix Bennett and Phil Strusing doing the passing.

OLD PUNCH SHOWN BY JACK IN PLAY

Dempsey Returns to Broadway as Star in Melodrama "The Big Fight."

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—For two hours and a half, "The Big Fight" which brought Jack Dempsey back to Broadway last night, was tiresome melo-drama.

For its last three minutes and a half, it was packed with thrills which brought the first night audience whooping to its feet.

All the glamor and drama and action of a heavyweight championship fight were packed into the last few minutes of the otherwise Sorry little play in which Jack and his wife, Estelle Taylor, are co-starring—their first joint effort upon the legitimate stage.

Dempsey, lithe and brown and grim, brought an appreciative yell of delight from the audience when he stripped off his familiar white sweater and flannel trousers and stepped forth in the red and black trunks he wore in his last ring battles.

And what Dempsey does to the unfortunate "Battling Baker" of the play is a caution. The management of "The Big Fight" advises that this part will be played by relays of actors. It is quite likely that they will run out of actors sooner than of cash customers, for the knockout wallop which the ex-champion shot over last night was closer to the real thing than many seen in the prize ring.

It took Dempsey about half a minute of the second round of a truly stirring battle to drape the ponderous form of Ralph Smith, who plays the part of "Battling Baker," insert across the canvas.

Chewing on an unlit cigar and leaning on his gold headed cane, Tex Rickard surveyed the enthusiastic audience last night. Men in stiff white shirt bosoms and women with ermine caressing their gleaming bare shoulders were standing and whooping like mad.

"You know, young feller," said Tex, "I believe they'd pay another million to come and see that there Dempsey fight again."

GEORGE ALBER IS ON INJURED LIST

Veteran Ohio State End First Casualty In Grid Camp of Coach Wilce.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 19.—George Alber, veteran Ohio State end, today was No. 1 on the football casualty list at the Scarlet and Gray camp.

Alber, taking part in a real scrimmage, pulled up with a broken nose.

Coach Jack Wilce took advantage of yesterday's fall weather and sent his proteges through a stiff workout. Seventy-two men were in uniform, and there was not an idle moment for any of them during the morning and afternoon drills.

The first team lined up with Barrett at center, Ughely and Griffith at guards, Raskowski and Hieronymous at tackles, and Fessler and Alber at ends. Fontaine took Alber's place when the latter was injured.

In the backfield were Holman at quarter, Eby and Coffee at halves, and Kruskamp at full.

BODIES ARE MENACE
"We must remove all the bodies to prevent the spread of disease. Disinfectants are badly needed."

About 2,500 homeless persons are being cared for here, and the number is increasing hourly. Dickson's report was the first official estimate that has been made of the number of dead. Heretofore only fragmentary reports have been received. Earlier today the Red Cross compiled a fatality list from six towns and the Lake Okechobee area, which said that 62 were known to have

Duplications in reports of the loss of life probably accounted for the high figures that filtered to the outside world shortly after the gale swung up through Jupiter inlet and struck the Palm Beaches and Lake Okechobee.

RED CROSS HAS TASK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The Red Cross faced today the task of aiding in burying hurricane dead and of succoring the living.

While its people toiled to get food and medicaments to survivors of the West Indian hurricane which crushed Porto Rico, the Bahamas, Florida and other places, tragic appeal for coffins for Florida reached headquarters here.

Out of Fort Myers came the appeal for coffins. Margaret Shepherd of the chapter there advised that pleas were arriving for coffins for the dead of Okechobee, South Bay, Miami Locks and Pear Beach in the Lake Okechobee territory.

She had been unable to get contact with the East Coast Relief unit, but was able to advise the main offices where today thousands of dollars were pouring in from a nation whose heart was touched by the hurricane tragedy.

FEVER SERUM DONATED

She was told that if public funds were unavailable, the Red Cross would see that the victims had decent burial at the organization's expense.

And while there were thoughts for the dead, the question of caring for the living arose urgently. Typhoid, that scourge which rides after the hurricane, had to be prevented. The Parker Davis company offered 10,000 units of typhoid serum which the Red Cross in turn offered to the Florida health department. Doctors and disaster experts were assigned to Florida.

Food was mobilized, for the Porto-Ricans, 700,000 of whom are estimated by Gov. Townner to be hungry and homeless as a result of the hurricane.

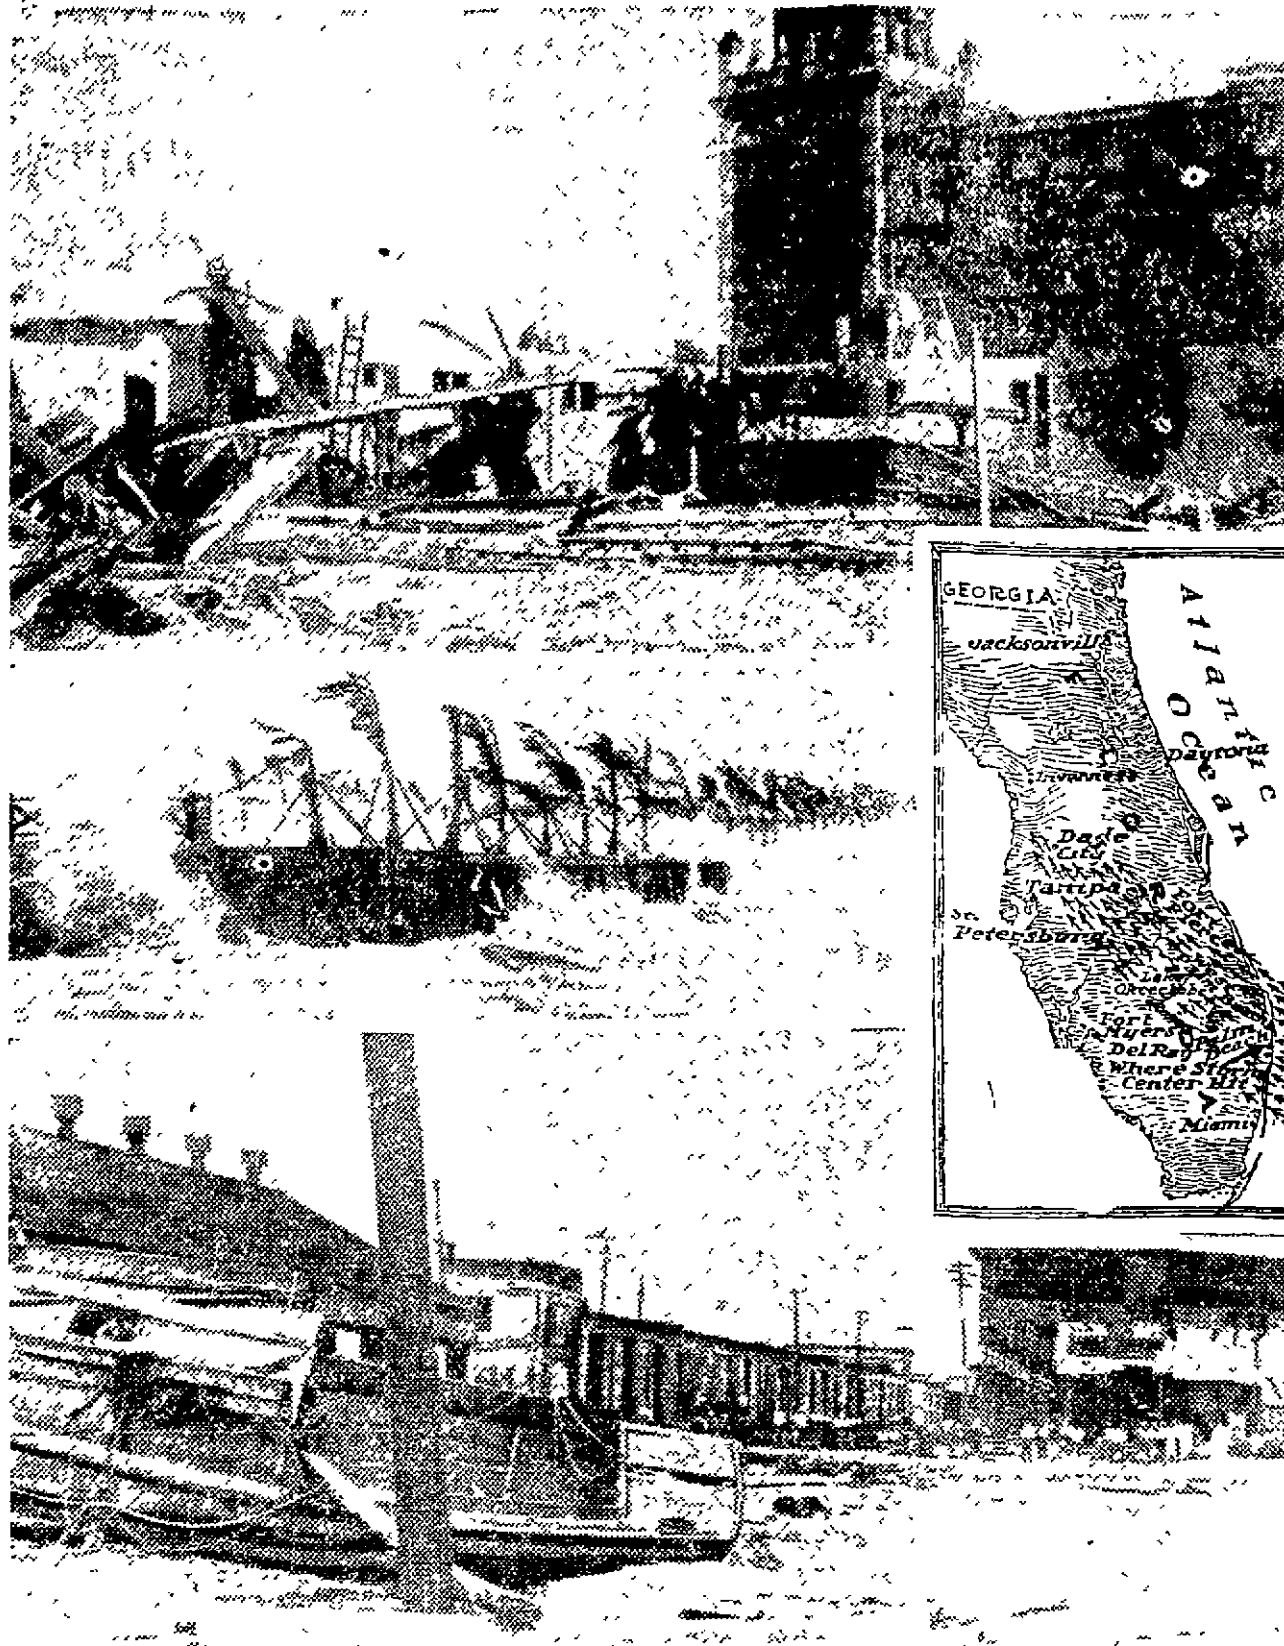

PARIS, Sept. 19.—(UP)—The West Indian hurricane took 680 lives in the French colony of Guadeloupe, the ministry of colonies was advised today.

The ministry has begun organizing relief work to feed and shelter the thousands of homeless and prevent epidemics by spraying the ruins of the towns and villages with disinfectant.

The rat, through destructiveness and consumption of food, cost the people of the United States about $400,000,000 a year, and notwithstanding this "the general public views the situation with the utmost complacency," according to a statement made public Aug. 28 by the United States Public Health Service.

OBITUARIES

Herman Wilson Reid, son of Sarah Esther Wilson, and Francis Marion Reid was born in Harrison-twp., Pickaway-co. July 15, 1887, and departed this life at University hospital, Columbus, O., Sept. 15, 1928, aged 41 years and two months.

Deceased lived all his life in Harrison-twp., coming to Ashville at the time of his marriage. On March 15, 1912, he was united in marriage to Miss Lulu Griffith of Ashville, by the Rev. G. J. Troutman of Circleville. To this union were born three children, two of which survive, one dying at birth. They are Elizabeth Waneta, aged 12 and Frances Pearl, aged 8. He also leaves to mourn their loss besides his loving parents, wife and children, four brothers, Herbert Andrew of Columbus; Russell Elroy of Harrison-twp.; Charles Emmet and Carl Emerson Reid, of Ashville. Another brother, Roy, lived only 13 days.

At 16 years of age he was converted and joined the Ashville United Brethren church under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Rowe. Five years later he was elected to the superintendency of the same church Sunday school. In this capacity he had served ever since, starting this year on his 20th year. For a number of years he had served as president of the Harrison-twp. Sunday School Association. He loved his church and his Christ and gave himself without reservation to the work of the Kingdom. He was a great Christian, nobleman with an experience surpassed by none and equalled only by a few. The pastor of the church always found in him a worker who had the church on his heart and one who counted no task too difficult, if it advanced the Kingdom of God. He knew the pastors of Southeast

Ohio conference as perhaps no other layman knew them, being delegate from his church to annual conference for the last 20 years with the exception of one or two years. He loved to talk about his church and his Christ to all who would listen. He had the respect and esteem of all who knew him, serving the community and his fellowmen to the best of his ability. He served several terms on the Ashville council as well as a number of years as clerk of Harrison-twp. The last nine years he was employed by the F. & R. Lazarus store at Columbus, before that being employed by the Mack Parrett Clothing store of Circleville. Socially he was a member of the local Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

In his last sickness he remained cheerful and optimistic to the end. Even when it was evident he could not get well, he fought to the very last, the ravages of the disease. He was not afraid to go, but wanted to stay, so that he could again work for his church and for his Master. His work is completed; a wonderful work, from a wonderful life. We miss him; we mourn for him; yet we know he is at home with God. His will be done.

Lonely and still is our home today And our hearts are aching with pain; For our darling Herman has passed away. But only to meet us again. God he has not felt us forever alone; But waits for us in the heavenly home. And this to our hearts brings comfort and cheer When everything around us seems gloomy and drear. To earth came the Savior, also for him, He saved his dear soul from the paths of sin. In his arms he received him in baptism mild When he tenderly said, "Thou now art my child." The good Shepherd led him with tenderest care And loved him, with no other love to compare; He carried him home on his gentle arm, Where now he is free from danger and harm. Lord Jesus, how thankful we ought to be To know thou hast taken him home to Thee, Uphold with thy truth our bleeding heart, That once with thee, we may nevermore part.

Card of Thanks
We take this opportunity to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our husband and father, son and brother, Herman Reid.

GEORGE ALBER IS ON INJURED LIST

Veteran Ohio State End First Casualty In Grid Camp of Coach Wilce.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 19.—George Alber, veteran Ohio State end, today was No. 1 on the football casualty list at the Scarlet and Gray camp.

Alber, taking part in a real scrimmage, pulled up with a broken nose.

Coach Jack Wilce took advantage of yesterday's fall weather and sent his proteges through a stiff workout. Seventy-two men were in uniform, and there was not an idle moment for any of them during the morning and afternoon drills.

The first team lined up with Barrett at center, Ujhelyi and Griffith at guards, Raskowski and Heronimus at tackles, and Pesler and Alber at ends. Fontaine took Alber's place when the latter was injured.

In the backfield were Holman at quarter, Eby and Coffee at halves, and Kruskamp at full.

FLORIDA TOLL 400

two boats that were sent to Tory and Cramer island to aid in the relief work.

"At South Bay there were considerably more than 150 bodies and in another spot there were 49 negro bodies and one white man.

BODIES ARE MENACE
"We must remove all the bodies to prevent the spread of disease. Disinfectants are badly needed."

About 2,500 homeless persons are being cared for here and the number is increasing hourly.

Dickson's report was the first official estimate that has been made of the number of dead. Heretofore only fragmentary reports have been received. Earlier today the Red Cross compiled a fatality list from six towns and the Lake Okechobee area, which said that 62 were known to have been killed and 545 injured. It was only when relief parties began to penetrate into the interior and skirt the shores of Lake Okechobee that the enormous loss of life became known for certain. Duplications in reports of the loss of life probably accounted for the high figures that filtered to the outside world shortly after the gale swung up through Jupiter inlet and struck the Palm Beaches and Lake Okechobee.

RED CROSS HAS TASK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The Red Cross faced today the task of aiding in burying hurricane dead and of succoring the living.

While its people toiled to get food and medicaments to survivors of the West Indian hurricane which crushed Porto Rico, the Bahamas, Florida and other places, tragic appeal for coffins for Florida reached headquarters here.

Out of Fort Myers came the appeal for coffins. Margaret Shepherd of the chapter there advised that pleas were arriving for coffins for the dead of Okechobee, South Bay, Miami Locks and Bear Beach in the Lake Okechobee territory.

She had been unable to get contact with the East Coast Relief unit, but was able to advise the main offices where today thousands of dollars were pouring in from a nation whose heart was touched by the hurricane tragedy.

FEVER SERUM DONATED

She was told that if public funds were unavailable, the Red Cross would see that the victims had decent burial at the organization's expense.

And while there were thoughts for the dead, the question of caring for the living arose urgently.

Typhoid, that scourge which rides after the hurricane, had to be prevented. The Parker Davis company offered 10,000 units of typhoid serum which the Red Cross in turn offered to the Florida health department. Doctors and disaster experts were assigned to Florida.

Food was mobilized for the Porto Ricans, 700,000 of whom are estimated by Gov. Townier to be hungry and homeless as a result of the hurricane.

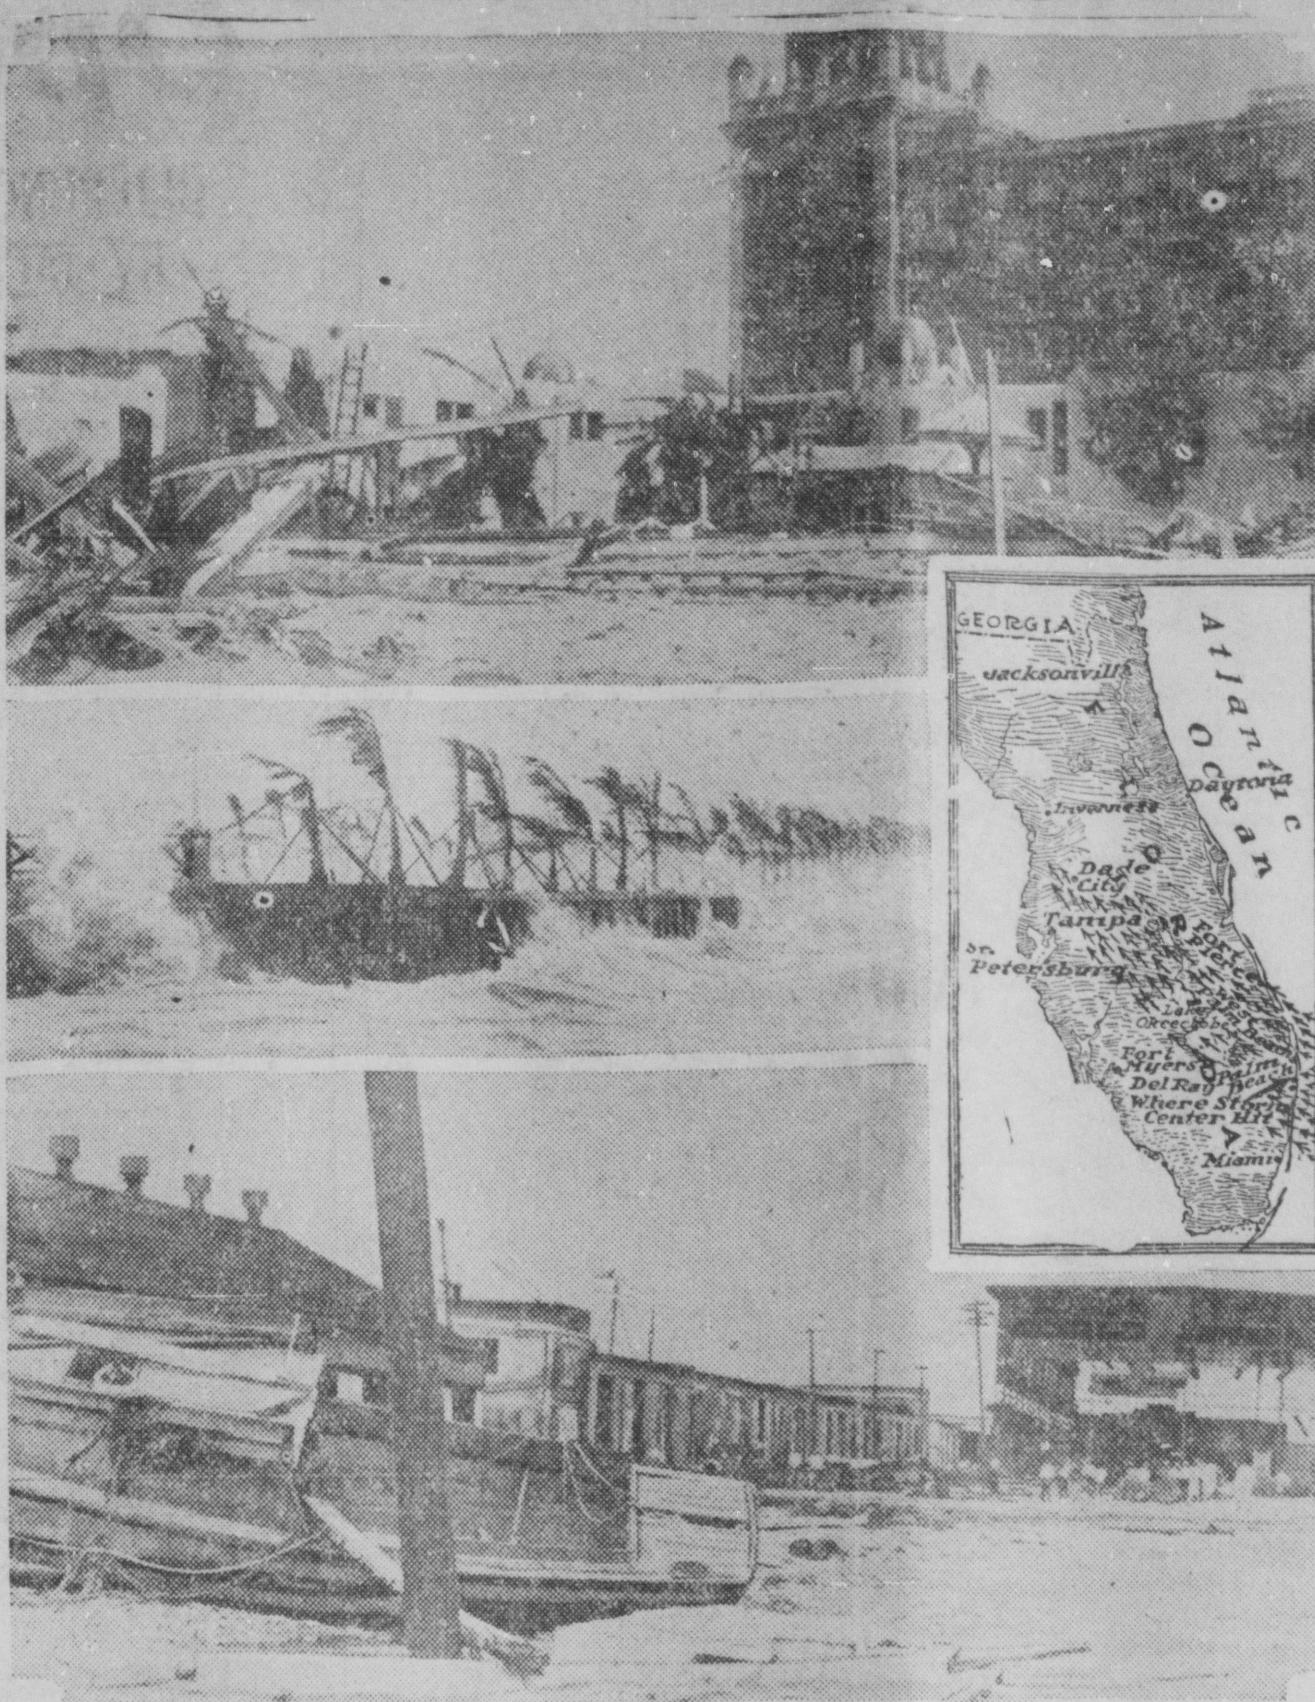

PARIS, Sept. 19.—(UP)—The West Indian hurricane took 660 lives in the French colony of Guadeloupe, the ministry of colonies was advised today.

The ministry has begun organizing relief work to feed and shelter the thousands of homeless and prevent epidemics by spraying the ruins of the towns and villages with disinfectant.

The rat, through destructive-ness and consumption of food, cost the people of the United States about $400,000,000 a year, and notwithstanding this "the general public views the situation with the utmost complacency," according to a statement made public Aug. 28 by the United States Public Health Service.

SMITH IN WEST

New York governor to visit him at the capitol.

Democratic leaders place much hope in Smith's declaration last night on the McNary-Haugen bill, but it was not entirely clear to some observers as to just how far he went, since he did not endorse the equalization fee, the "heart" of that measure, by name, but said the methods and mechanics of that measure, by name, but open. Republicans regarded it as a skillful pronouncement.

By emphasizing his prohibition modifications stand, Smith touched a friendly spot in the heart of the large foreign population in this state, which is predominantly "wet." A large percentage of the German and Bohemian votes is conceded to him. There are 300,000 Germans in the state and about 200,000 Bohemians, while other foreign nationalities are well represented.

OBITUARIES

Herman Wilson Reid, son of Sarah Esther Wilson, and Francis Marion Reid was born in Harrison-twp., Pickaway-co., July 15, 1887, and departed this life at University hospital, Columbus, O., Sept. 15, 1928, aged 41 years and two months.

Deceased lived all his life in Harrison-twp., coming to Ashville at the time of his marriage. On March 15, 1912, he was united in marriage to Miss Lulu Griffith of Ashville, by the Rev. G. J. Troutman of Circleville. To this union were born three children, two of which survive, one dying at birth. They are Elizabeth Waneta, aged 12 and Frances Pearl, aged 8. He also leaves to mourn their loss besides his loving parents, wife and children, four brothers, Herbert, Andrew of Columbus; Russell Elroy of Harrison-twp.; Charles Emmet and Carl Emerson Reid, of Ashville. Another brother, Roy, lived only 13 days.

At 16 years of age he was converted and joined the Ashville United Brethren church under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Rowe. Five years later he was elected to the superintendency of the same church Sunday school. In this capacity he had served ever since, starting this year on his 20th year. For a number of years he had served as president of the Harrison-twp. Sunday School Association. He loved his church and his Christ and gave himself without reservation to the work of the Kingdom. He was a great Christian nobleman with an experience surpassed by none and equalled only by a few. The pastor of the church always found in him a worker who had the church on his heart and one who counted no task too difficult, if it advance the Kingdom of God. He knew the pastors of Southeast

Ohio conference as perhaps no other layman knew them, being delegate from his church to annual conference for the last 20 years with the exception of one or two years. He loved to talk about his church and his Christ to all who would listen. He had the respect and esteem of all who knew him, serving the community and his fellowmen to the best of his ability. He served several terms on the Ashville council as well as a number of years as clerk of Harrison-twp. The last nine years he was employed by the F. & R. Lazarus store at Columbus, before that being employed by the Mack Parrett Clothing store of Circleville. Socially he was a member of the local Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

In his last sickness he remained cheerful and optimistic to the end. Even when it was evident he could not get well, he fought to the very last, the ravages of the disease. He was not afraid to go, but wanted to stay, so that he could again work for his church and for his Master. His work is completed; a wonderful work, from a wonderful life. We miss him; we mourn for him; yet we know he is at home with God. His will be done.

Lonely and still is our home today. And our hearts are aching with pain.

For our darling Herman has passed away.

But only to meet us again.

God he has not felt us forever alone;

But waits for us in the heavenly home.

And this to our hearts brings comfort and cheer

When everything around us seems gloomy and drear.

To earth came the Savior, also for him,

He saved his dear soul from the paths of sin. In his arms he received him in baptism mild. When He tenderly said, "Thou now art my child." The good Shepherd led him with tenderest care. And loved him, with no other love to compare; He carried him home on his gentle arm. Where now he is free from danger and harm.

Lord Jesus, how thankful we ought to be. To know thou hast taken him home to Thee.

Uphold with thy truth our bleeding heart. That once with thee, we may nevermore part.

Card of Thanks

We take this opportunity to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our husband and father, son and brother, Herman Reid.

RAISING MONEY FOR GOOD CAUSES

A story on "Adventure in Money Raising" is told in "Association Men," by Frank B. Lenz, who has had much experience in money raising enterprises in behalf of public and philanthropic causes. Here is a problem that troubles many community workers, here in Circleville and elsewhere.

They can see how much good is or could be done by churches, Sunday schools, Boys and Girls club, Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A.'s, Y. W. C. A.'s charity societies, etc. They see how much such enterprises need money, and they can see that there is money enough in the community to give them adequate support, but frequently it is not forthcoming. How can the ordinary community be induced to give adequate support to such causes?

Mr. Lenz feels that to raise money for community causes, it is first necessary to state the case in behalf of these causes clearly and convincingly. People who canvass for such funds need to know the facts about them, and so present them that people are impressed with the soundness of the enterprise and the necessity of supporting it.

And yet he does not feel that a purely rational presentation of such a case accomplishes the full result. It frequently leaves givers cold and unresponsive. Their sympathy needs to be aroused.

He feels that most people like to give, but they do not like to be forced into it. The average giver would be more impressed by some story telling of people who had had a hard time, and were helped and encouraged by some good institution, than by columns of figures and statistics. The heart has to be touched before the pocket book opens. There are a great many people who can not seem to cope with the world without the assistance of such agencies.

It seems practically certain that Capt. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, perished in his daring attempt to rescue the ill fated Italia party. The world owes much to men like him. While most of us strive for ease, pleasure, and comfort, Amundsen set himself the arduous and almost impossible task of exploring the most unknown and terrible portions of the earth.

Voluntarily he immured himself in these solitudes, where nature seems to have placed her inviolable NO Trespass signs. He defied the worst fury of the elements, and conquered for a time, winning imperishable glory, only at last to fall victim to these same unconquerable forces. The world produces few such heroic spirits.

POLICEWOMEN

There are now about 600 policewomen employed in 218 cities and towns. The idea of policewomen would have seemed impracticable some years ago, but now the chiefs of police would probably say they are quite as useful as anyone on their force.

They can see in any city young people who are doing things that will lead to serious error. A few words of persuasion from a tactful woman who knows life, would accomplish a lot. Words of counsel dropped into the ear at that starting point where young people turn off the straight and narrow path, accomplish more than when they have strayed far along that path, and feel it is hopeless to try to get back.

ABOLISHING POVERTY

Herbert Hoover, in his acceptance speech, expressed the hope that this country is on the way to abolishing poverty. It is a hope that is shared by all generous minded people. To accomplish that end, requires several things. First, universal education.

A POEM FOR TODAY

By NORMAN W. RALSTON

ALWAYS

Want
The things I
Cannot own.
I always do the Things I should not Do.
When I'm in crowds
I crave to be Alone.
I'm happier often
When my mind
Is blue—
Funny? Well, say
The world's a scream,
We all are
Braying fools
I sometimes vow,
We work away our entire
Lives for cream,
When milk is Just as good from Any cow;
Wishes and hopes!
May not a single
One come true—
I'd be dissatisfied
If they were so.
And so would John
And so would Jim
And you—
It's working for Them
Makes this old
World go—

And what we mean to say
Is,
Just go ahead and be Dissatisfied,
But do your grunting
When you are alone,
The man who was
Contented simply died,
And what's a dog
To do with just
One bone?
Ah, minds are torn
By tortures, manifold,
They multiply with
Each descending year,
But they will make
A man both true
And bold,
And give to him a
Slightly touch
Of fear.

Love's Ecstasy
by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Both are employed by W. B. Lingard, wealthy industrialist. Lingard, after years of search, finds the sweetheart of his youth, Marise de Rense, with whom Alela is living. Goldie, eighteen-year-old sophisticate, learns that Marise is not her sister—but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise pours out the story of her tragic early marriage—to a convict who has since died. Goldie leaves home in anger—but not before she creates a break between Alela and Gary, who sails for Italy on a business trip. Later Lingard is forced to make a hurried trip to Paris and takes Alela along as secretary, the Countess Dellamancia, his niece, acting as chaperone. In Paris Gary awaits them. He and Alela renew their troth. Back home Goldie joins Clive Mortimer in running a rum cargo from Canada. The car crashes and Goldie is killed. Alela returns from Paris to find Marise in despair. Gary returns to Italy to finish his work there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LVIII.

"YOU are mistaken," said Alela, her earnest eyes on her employer as she stood in the inner office by his desk. "Marise de Rense was never at any time engaged to Clive Mortimer. In my opinion—she was greatly daring, but for Marise's sake she'd make the venture—there has only been one man she's ever really cared about!"

William B. Lingard cleared his throat. He was much agitated by this conversation. Alela could see that.

"Sit down, Miss Ray. I—I appreciate your kindly interest in your friend. And in the sudden and tragic death of her—er—her daughter, she has been greatly bereaved."

"She has. She's a very fine woman, Mr. Lingard."

Forgetting her shyness, in Marise's cause, and the difference in position between herself and her employer, Alela drew a chair close to him, seated herself, and fixed pleading, anxious eyes upon his rugged face.

"He tapped with a nervous finger on a blotter. 'Miss de Rense has my deepest sympathy. I've known her for some time. She's had, I understand, a pretty hard life?'"

"And now that her—er—her friend is under arrest—taken in conjunction with the loss of her daughter—it makes it doubly difficult for her?"

"If you mean Clive Mortimer, his share in the accident when Goldie was killed is certainly terrible for Marise to think about—but I am sure, beyond that, she has no personal feeling for the man, unless it's hatred! I would, too, were I in her shoes!"

Through his horn-rimmed glasses, William B. Lingard gave his young secretary a swift appraising glance.

Had she come here at the other's request—as Marise's emissary? But not the pretty face, so naively in earnest was open as the day.

She was acting on her own initiative, prompted by sincere sympathy and affection for her friend.

Marise de Rense was in need of money? Miss Ray, on her behalf, had come to him for help?

Was it not possible, despite what his secretary had just told him, that Marise was definitely involved with this rum-running fellow, and required immediate cash to bail him out?

But that would be quite useless. Unless he jumped his bond, the fellow would get at least a year's imprisonment, followed by deportation.

Perhaps she wanted money to employ an attorney?

Through William B. Lingard's shrewd business mind darted a whole series of disturbing thoughts.

"He rapped out, after a pause: 'Has that little night club at which she was hostess and entertainer been 'padlocked'? I take it that this rum-running attempt was on her behalf?'"

"Oh, No! Marise never counted the sale of liquor," defended Alela. "It was because he smuggled some into the Harvest Moon once or twice, against her orders."

"No—except as being Goldie's mother—Marise has nothing to do with the affair."

"I'm glad of that."

"But the Harvest Moon's gone bankrupt," announced Alela. "I suppose because Marise wouldn't sell liquor to her customers, it didn't pay expenses. So she's broke."

"And that's why you've come to me today?" From a pigeonhole in his desk he drew out a checkbook, holding it towards Alela. "Make out what you think is necessary, and I'll sign."

The girl flushed scarlet, putting her two hands behind her back. "No! No! I never thought of such a thing! Marise would be furious!" She bit her underlip. Here was an "impasse."

William B. Lingard was regarding her, a puzzled expression on his face.

"Then what—?"

"How dense he was! Didn't he realize that Marise cared for him? That he'd been in her heart these many weary years?"

"Oh! for diplomacy!" blurted out Marise's champion, "she doesn't eat or sleep and, unless something's done quick—unless someone she cares about can rouse her—goodness alone knows what'll happen! At nights I hear her sobbing, and talking to herself! She's heading for brain fever—a sanitarium—maybe suicide! Oh! don't you understand?" And Alela, tears in her eyes, leaned forward and gripped her employer's hand.

A light began to dawn on him. He murmured: "What was that you said in the beginning? Something about 'only one man in her life she's really cared about'? Did you mean her first husband?"

"Husband nothing!" cried Alela, casting prudence to the winds, and eyes overflowing. "You—Mr. Lingard—you're the person Marise has never, all these years, forgotten. You're the one man Marise has always cared about!"

At 9 o'clock that evening, Alela—who had been out in Central Park for a breath of air—re-entered the house on West Fortieth street.

Marise—although the night was torrid—had refused to accompany her. Marise wanted to be alone.

As Alela—full of anxiety for her friend—let herself into the hall with her latchkey, she heard the sound of subdued voices coming from the living-room.

The lights had not been turned on yet, but through the unshaded window a shaft of illumination penetrated from an arc-lamp in the street outside.

Marise was on the old settee, a man's arm protectively around her shoulders, her tear-stained face half hidden on the sleeve of his coat!

"My darling!" he was saying to Marise, over and over again. "My darling..."

The man was William B. Lingard!

SEND MONEY TO FLORIDA SUFFERERS

At the meeting of the local Business and Professional Women's club Tuesday night, the members voted to send $10 to the Business and Professional Women's club in Kissimmee, Fla., to aid the hurricane sufferers. This club was selected as the recipient of the money because the former Miss Mabel Robinson of Circleville was a member of that club. Miss Dorothy Robinson, a sister, is now a member of the Circleville club.

The president reported that through the kindness of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, permission was granted to the club to use their own rug and furniture in the outer room in an effort to create a more homelike atmosphere.

Another important feature of the meeting Tuesday night was an interesting talk on "Insurance" by Mrs. Lloyd Jones. This was given after the business meeting.

The members of the club also decided to have a dinner for two recent brides of the club, Mrs. John Bostwick (Ella Lindsey) and Mrs. Alleyne Smith, (Ruth Steele). This will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 2, at the New American Hotel.

Following the business, and entertainment of the evening, a delicious lunch was served to the 25 members, by the social committee.

What Will you do When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use, in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

NOVARRO'S NEWEST FILM IS POWERFUL

The primeval lure of the sea, and the heroism of mariners battling the elements, from the background for an amazing drama of love, hate and adventure in "Across to Singapore." Ramon Novarro's new starring vehicle at the Metropolitan theatre.

Novarro plays the sailor hero of an amazing love quest that leads him over the Pacific through terrific storms, mutiny, attacks by Oriental pirates, and other thrilling adventures, into an amazing drama of human emotions. Adventure and the clash of human will and the mury of the elements form a thundering background for a beautiful love story that runs through the drama as a central theme.

Joan Crawford plays the heroine, a New England girl thrust into the midst of an adventure in the Orient. Ernest Torrence, as the hero's older brother, dominates a number of powerful scenes and James Mason, as the sinister first mate is a convincing player. Anna May Wong is a siren of the Orient, and Edward Connelly and Frank Currier provide some remarkable character work. Dan Wolheim and Duke Martin are convincing as sailors.

CHAPEL ADDRESSED BY NEW PRINCIPAL

Interesting Talk Made Before High School Students At Monday Session.

By VERONICA KUHN C. H. S. students were pleasantly surprised Monday morning when chapel was announced.

Mr. Gephart, the principal, was in charge of the chapel services. He began by reading the 13th chapter of Matthew from the Bible. "Aloha Oe" was then sung with Elizabeth Roundhouse assisting at the piano.

Mr. Gephart spoke concerning the different attitudes or types in school. He said that there was one type he could compare to a sponge. This person takes in everything without any discussion or question. Another type Mr. Gephart said was like a stone. This one neither gives nor takes. A third type was classified as old fashioned students who have ambition only to cause trouble. Mr. Gephart said, "There is a different purpose and idea in the school room today. The old fashioned ones are out of date. A fourth type may be called structural steel. They are the frame work of the school, they push each new organization with zest, they are the few who bear the burden and are in everything. They are the ones who add life and zest to school activities."

Two weeks ago the new teachers were introduced. A group of boys have begun to know one teacher particularly well. Mr. Gephart gave all the students an opportunity to know our coach better Monday.

The coach, Mr. Guthrie spoke on "Where is our 1928-29 football team coming from?" Mr. Guthrie said that it was a serious situation. Mr. Guthrie explained that most boys have an idea they can come out and play bangup football in their Senior years without any previous years training. Mr. Guthrie said, "Come out and serve apprenticeship and learn the game."

Mr. Guthrie read the names of Freshmen whom he recognized. They were, Dunlap, Chalfin and Iles. He read the names of those who would graduate this year. They are: Heeter, Wallace, Capt. Barnhill, Shasteen, Griffith, Lape, Dumm, Grant, Carothers, Gordon and Terry. Two of these, Grant and Barnhill, played regular positions last year. The coach said boys who could and yet didn't come out and stick were like lounge lizards and candy ankles. Circleville has the material but will power is needed.

Mr. Gephart then explained the use of the absence slips and the date of their return. He explained the method used when a student was tardy. Absences from study hall will be accounted for also, a change in chapel procedure went into effect Monday.
